Strength can speak.

The Year of the Snake is approaching, and the animals in the forest are discussing. "I'm most afraid of snake venom!" "Why do humans put snakes on the ranks of the twelve zodiacs?"

The frogs in the grassland hated snakes the most and shouted: "The shape of an earthworm is similar to that of a snake, but it is more capable than a snake!"

"If... I... I will choose earthworm!" The sparrow got goose bumps all over his body when he thought of the snake flicking its tongue.

At this time, the earthworm, who was working hard, vaguely heard everyone's conversation, and thought: I am so insignificant, I didn't expect everyone to stand up for me, it seems that I should defend myself and fight for my rights.

Earthworm came to the high court and filed a complaint with the judge: "(Charles Darwin confirmed that earthworms existed in nature for 600 million years, and he also praised me as the number one labourer on earth. Please let me be on the ranks of the twelve zodiacs!"

The judge nodded and said: "You rest during the day and come out at night and feed on organic matter, whether it is waste, plant stems and leaves, or soil, you swallow them all, and you have made great contributions to the production of humus for the earth. Why not I hold a hearing for you and let everyone decide."

The judge flipped through the administrative calendar, "The spring is warm, everyone is willing to come out for activities, let's hold a hearing in March!"

"No! No! Spring is a good time for seeds to germinate. I am busy loosening up the soil, so I can't go anywhere." The earthworm refused.

"So June then! The weather is sunny and clear in summer, and everyone is happy to go out." The judge suggested again.

"No, no! The crops bloom and bear fruit in summer, and the soil must have enough gaps so that the roots of the crops can grow." The earthworm still shook his head. "In that case, we can only wait until autumn! Are you free then?" The judge closed the administrative calendar in his hand.

Earthworm still shook his head.

"In autumn, I want to make sure the soil is aerated and hydrated.."

"During the bold and bitter winter, everyone is hiding in their house, do you want to use gold to lure them out?" The judge spread his hands helplessly.

"Well, it's against my conscience to do like this!" The earthworm refused to accept the judge's suggestion but could do nothing. Like a defeated rooster, he went home dejectedly.

The animals gathered at the entrance of the forest and waited. Suddenly, the squirrel shouted: "Mr. Earthworm is back!"

Everyone surrounded the earthworms under the big tree. A notice suddenly appeared .....

 蚯蚓的心情顿时开朗起来。

It turns out that earthworms loosen the soil to promote agricultural production and solve the crisis of human food shortage faced. Therefore, the World Food Organization issued the "Lifetime Achievement Award" to recognize the contribution of earthworms, thereby encouraging everybody to keep earthworms.

"You've won an award!" "I'm so proud of you!" "You're not bad, it's better than joining the twelve zodiacs!" Sparrows, grasshoppers and frogs rushed to congratulate the earthworm.

Earthworm's mood lit up immediately.
